What do you think?

Well, their manoeuvres aren't bad.

Of course.

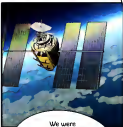

Thanks to my superiors, we've paid special attention to the selection and training of these men.

First.

By using this newly built gymnasium as our training facility, we are provided with a large, soundproof space

We were also able to elude the American satellite that has remained in orbit over Korea ever since 2020. They would never guess that we were here.

Not only that, the support from...

Enough.

Just tell
me about
those guys.

Ah... yes,
these men were
recruited before
the presidential election.

We made
sure to hand
pick them from
"over there".

Therefore, they
were already well
trained, though erasing
their identities took
some time.

Since these men were all already experienced in kidnapping, assassination, demolition and espionage, training was merely a review.

We also ensured that the advisors were fully experienced and ruthless.

Good.

Did you
make sure these
guys won't betray
us? It'll be a real pain
in the ass if these
boys turn on us
last minute.

Don't worry

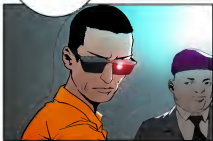

I did
just as you
told.

I'm sure
you can tell
just by watching
them train... their
determination and
passion are beyond
imagination. Once a
set goal was given,
they withstood all
the tests, drugs
and training.

Being
treated like
this after devoting
their entire lives for the country... Would you expect to be back-
stabbed?

We can now see the South Korean Presidential Convey approaching Yangon City's main street.

As we speak, it appears as though the President has revealed himself through the roof of his limousine.

Despite the warnings of various officials, the President insisted on a procession through the main streets of Yangon, as a sign of trust between the two nations. However, this is considered a very dangerous act.

Yes although there were various clashes between the president and his opposition party after his inauguration, both sides agreed that it would be in best not to strengthen the usual security, but to trust the Myanmar Government as a sign of respect.

Yes, thank you. We now go live to our field reporter in Yangon, Myanmar.

Reporter Seo Jeong Min?

Yes, this is
Reporter Seo
Jeong Min live at
the Presidential
Visit in Yangon,
Myanmar.

What
is the current
situation?

Various people
watched carefully as the convey passed by. A huge crowd has gathered at the procession, showing the strong international interest of the people of Myanmar.

After his inauguration, President Kim showed personal excitement regarding his first international visit.

In 2018, while President Kim Il-sung was the Mayor of Seoul, a certain incident occurred. The Siberian-City agreement between Raskhine State and Seoul came under harsh criticism, but the natural resource mining treaty along with the confirmed discovery of new Oil Reserves North of Raskhine led to President Kim being hailed as a new hero in Myanmar.

It is quite a sight to see the streets of Myanmar so festive.

As the 20th Presidential term approached, frequent energy crises, competition for resources, as well as the emergence of Myanmar as a new resource power, has put the two countries on edge.
